

TECHNONICOL presented Russian business at the “Entrepreneur of the Year” competition in Monaco

Co-owners of TECHNONICOL shared secrets of their success with businessmen from many countries of the world.

From June, 4 to 9, the final of the prestigious international competition “Entrepreneur of the Year”, organized by EY-company, took place in Monaco. This competition is held in more than 145 cities of 60 countries of the world. The best businessmen, winners of the national stages, are entitled to represent their country in the final of the competition in Monaco. In 2019, the co-owners of TECHNONICOL Sergey Kolesnikov and Igor Rybakov represented the Russian Federation.

Entrepreneurs presented at the competition the history of the company, the most effective instruments to increase productivity, plans of development. “It was a very interesting experience. Our company worthily represented the Russian business. We did not win the grand prize, but personally, losing always motivates me to work and train more than winning. I do not promise to move mountains, but I will definitely try to make my favorite company TECHNONICOL a leader in the EU countries,” said Sergey Kolesnikov, co-owner of TECHNONICOL.
